Document prepared by the Office of the Union

Disclaimer: this document does not represent UPOV policies or guidance

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1. On September 23, 2025, Malaysia submitted a request to the Council to examine the Draft Amendments to the Protection of New Plant Varieties Act 2004 [Act 634] of Malaysia (hereinafter referred to as the “Draft Law”) for conformity with the 1991 Act of the UPOV Convention (hereinafter referred to as the “1991 Act”). This document provides an analysis by the Office of the Union on the Draft Law. This analysis includes the Office of the Union’s opinion that the Draft Law incorporates the substantive provisions of the 1991 Act.
2. The Council is invited to:
 - (a) note the analysis in this document;
 - (b) take a positive decision on the conformity of the Draft Law with the provisions of the 1991 Act, which allows Malaysia, once the Draft Law is adopted with no changes and the Law is in force, to deposit its instrument of accession to the 1991 Act; and
 - (c) authorize the Secretary-General to inform the Government of Malaysia of the above decision.

BACKGROUND

3. Article 34(3) of the 1991 Act provides that “[a]ny State which is not a member of the Union and any intergovernmental organization shall, before depositing its instrument of accession, ask the Council to advise it in respect of the conformity of its Draft Laws with the provisions of this Convention. If the decision embodying the advice is positive, the instrument of accession may be deposited.”
4. Since 2005, the Office of the Union has provided assistance to the Government of Malaysia in the development of legislation in accordance with the 1991 Act.
5. On April 8, 2005 (document C\(Extr.\)/22/3) the Council examined the conformity of the Protection of New Plant Varieties Act 2004 of Malaysia (the Act) with the provisions of the 1991 Act. The Council noted that the Act still required some additional provisions and amendments, as provided in document C\(Extr.\)/22/2, in order to fully conform with the 1991 Act; the Act would be re-submitted to the Consultative Committee once the additional provisions and amendments had been incorporated.
6. From 2011 to 2025, the Office of the Union provided comments on different versions of the Draft Law and participated in several legal consultations. Representatives from Malaysia have participated at Workshops on drafting legislation in accordance with the 1991 Act of the UPOV Convention” (Workshops for Laws) in 2011, 2017, 2019, 2021 and 2022.
7. By electronic mail dated September 23, 2025, addressed to the Vice Secretary-General and the Director of Legal Affairs of UPOV, Mr. Datuk Seri Isham bin Ishak, Secretary General, Ministry of Agriculture and Food Security, requested the examination of the Draft Law, for conformity with the 1991 Act. The electronic mail is reproduced in Annex I to this document. Annex II contains a copy of the Draft Law in English.

Conditions for registration of new plant variety and grant of breeder's right

14. (1) The Protection of a new plant variety shall be granted where the variety is—

- (a) new;
- (b) distinct;
- (c) uniform; and
- (d) stable.

(2) Granting protection to a new plant variety shall not be subjected to any further or different conditions, provided that the variety is designated by a denomination in accordance with the provisions of section 16 the applicant complies with the formalities provided for in this Act and he has paid the required fees.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1) —

- (a) a variety is new if on the date of filing of the application for protection of the new plant variety, the propagating or harvested material of the variety has not been sold or otherwise disposed of to others by or with the consent of the breeder, for the purpose of exploitation of the variety —
 - (i) earlier than one year before the date of filing of the application, in Malaysia; and

(ii) outside Malaysia—

(A) earlier than six years before that date in respect of trees or vines; and

(b) a variety is distinct if, on the filing date of the application, it is clearly distinguishable from any other variety, the existence of which is a matter of common knowledge. In particular, the granting of a breeder's rights or the entering of another variety in an official register of varieties, in any country, shall be deemed to render that other variety a matter of common knowledge from the date of the application, provided that the application leads to the granting of a breeder's right or to the entering of the said other variety in the official register of varieties, as the case may be;

(c) a variety is uniform if, subject to the variation that may be expected from the particular features of its propagation, it is sufficiently uniform in its relevant characteristics; and.

(d) a variety is stable if its relevant characteristics remain unchanged after repeated propagation or, in the case of a particular cycle of propagation, at the end of each particular cycle.

(4) The Board shall publish the withdrawal and rejection of any application for protection of a new plant variety and grant of breeder's rights in a prescribed manner.

15. [Section 15 deleted]

(a) the control of substances;

(b) biosafety and the release of genetically modified organism; or

(c) access to biological resources and benefit sharing.

(2) The protection granted under this Act shall not in itself constitute an authorization for commercial exploitation of the variety, for which the requirements of the corresponding legislation shall be satisfied.

(3) The exercise of breeder's right may be restricted, where appropriate, in order protect public order or morality, human, animal or plant life or health or to avoid serious harm to the environment.

Denomination of a new plant variety

16. (1) A plant variety in respect of which an application for protection of a new plant variety and grant of breeder's rights is made shall have a denomination which will be its generic designation and, subject to subsections (2) and (3), the denomination shall be approved by the Board and registered at the time the plant variety is granted protection and grant of breeder's rights is made.

(2) The Board shall consider for approval and registration of a proposed denomination for a new plant variety if it complies with the following conditions –

(a) it must enable the plant variety to be identified

(b) it does not consist solely of figures, except where this is an established practice for designating plant varieties; and

- (c) the denomination must be different from every denomination which designates, in the territory of any Contracting party an existing variety of the same plant species or of a closely related species.

(3) The Board shall not approve or register a denomination for the new plant variety which —

- (a) does not satisfy the requirement of subsection (2);
- (b) is likely to mislead or cause confusion concerning the characteristics, value or identity of the plant variety, or the identity of the breeder;
- (c) is contrary to any written law or public order, or is likely to be offensive to the public; and
- (d) Prior rights of third persons shall not be affected. If by reason of a prior right, the use of the denomination of a variety is forbidden to a person who, in accordance with the provisions of subsection 16A(1), is obliged to use it, the Board shall require the breeder to submit another denomination for the variety.

(4) Where a denomination for a plant variety has previously been submitted in any Contracting party for the purpose of protecting a new plant variety, the denomination submitted for the purpose of an application in Malaysia in respect of that plant variety must be the same as the denomination submitted in that Contracting party.

(5) The Board shall approve the denomination submitted under subsection (4) upon the grant of breeder's rights, unless the Board considers the denomination to be unsuitable for use within Malaysia.

(6) Where the Board refuses to approve a denomination under subsections (2), (3) or (5), the Board shall require, and the applicant shall propose, another denomination within sixty (60) days from the date of notification, failing which the application shall be deemed to have been abandoned upon the expiration of that period.

(7) The Board shall publish proposed and approved denominations of new varieties in a prescribed manner.

(8) The Board ensures that the authorities of the Contracting party are informed of matters concerning variety denominations, in particular the submission, registration and cancellation of denominations. Any authority may address its observations, if any, on the registration of a denomination to the Board.

Use of denomination

16A. (1) Any person who offers for sale or markets propagating material of a variety protected in Malaysia shall use the registered denomination for that protected variety even after the term of the grant of the Breeder's Rights has expired, except where, in accordance with the provisions of subsection 16(3)(d), prior rights prevent such use.

(2) A person shall not offer for sale or market propagating material of some other plant variety of the same plant species or of a closely related species using the registered denomination of a protected variety.

Use of denomination in association with trademark and trade name or other similar indication

16B. A person who sells or markets material of a protected variety may, for that purpose, associate a trademark, trade name or other similar indication with the registered denomination of that protected variety. If such an association is indicated, the denomination must nevertheless be easily recognizable.

Invalidation of registration of denomination

16C. (1) An application by any person for a declaration of invalidity of a registered denomination may be made to the Court on the grounds that it is registered in breach of subsection 16(3).

(2) The Board shall require the rights holder to submit another suitable denomination for registration within sixty (60) days from the date of notification where the registration of a denomination has been declared invalid by the Court under subsection (1).

Filing date

17. (1) The filing date of an application for the registration of a new plant variety and grant of a breeder's right shall be the date of receipt of the application by the Board on condition that the application has complied with the requirements of section 12.

(2) Subject to subsection (1), where two or more applications for the registration of a new plant variety and grant of a breeder's right are received by the Board in respect of the same plant variety, priority shall be given to the application that is accorded an earlier filing date by the Board.

Right of priority

18. (1) Any breeder who has duly filed an application for the protection of a variety in a Contracting Party, for the purpose of filing an application for protection of a new plant variety for the same variety with the Board, enjoy a right of priority for a period of twelve (12) months. This period shall be computed from the date of filing of the first application, and not from the dates of any subsequent filing. The day of filing shall not be included in the latter period.

(2) In order to benefit from the right of priority, the breeder shall, in the application filed with the Board, claim the priority of the first application. The Board shall require the breeder to furnish, within a period of not less than three (3) months from the filing date of the application, a copy of the documents which constitute the first application, certified to be a true copy by the authority with which that first application was filed, and samples or other evidence that the variety which is the subject matter of both applications is the same.
