

Herbert Zech

Herbert Zech studied law at the Universities of Erlangen and Munich and obtained his doctorate degree (Dr. jur.) at the University of Constance. He also holds a degree in biology (Dipl.-Biol.) from Kaiserslautern University of Technology. Since April 2012 Herbert Zech has been teaching at the law faculty of the University of Basel (Switzerland). He currently holds the position of professor of life sciences law and intellectual property law and is also dean of research. His main fields of academic interest are intellectual property law, especially bio- and nanotechnology patents, information law and technology law.